

Bio:

My name is Ralph Torr, MD. Prior to moving to Calvert County, I was a physician in the United States Navy followed by a position as assistant professor at the University of Pittsburgh until 1997 when my wife, Julie Okeefe, MD, and I moved to Calvert County.

I was chief of anesthesiology at Southern Maryland Hospital until 2004 and since that time I have been the Medical Director of Pembroke Square Surgery Center.

We currently reside in Owings where my son attends NHS and my daughter attends NMS.

Statement of position:

If elected to the Calvert County Republican Central Committee, I would work diligently to help promote those Republican candidates that have the best interest of not only Calvert County but Maryland as their primary focus. We need to develop a strong central committee that can provide the support that is essential to ensure that the candidates that favor smaller government, less taxes and less control over our lives get elected and can help preserve the way of life that has made us call Calvert County "home."
